	Physical Health and Well-Being through Music & Arts (7-12)
	Ideas to Explore	Considerations
Creating	Create a playlist of music that you find uplifting or inspiring. Share the list with someone, or invite friends to create a list together.	Try coming up with a title that represents your playlist as a whole.
	Imagine your positive playlist is an album. Design an album cover using pencil crayons, markers, paint, or digital art.	To create your album cover, use any materials you have in your house.
	Create a representation of your musical instrument	Use a variety of materials that you find around home.
	Create a piece of art while listening to music.	You can use any materials you can find at home to create and express the music.
	Create an image inspired by another artwork or artist.	Look at artworks to inspire your own creation. What would you make? What story would it tell? How would it make you feel? You can use any materials you can find at home or outside to make your creation.
	Write your own music, or write the notes for a song you like, using staff paper and pencil or music notation software.	Noteflight: Music Notation and Composition Software Printable Staff Paper
	Play along with a song that you enjoy. Add a line or hook for your instrument.	Let Lizzo and her flute inspire you!
	Write about why you chose your instrument and describe some of the things you like about it.	Imagine that you are writing to a younger student who is considering being part of a band program. What would you tell them?

	Create an instrument using recycled materials found around your home. Create enough for an entire family band!	Collaborating on a project like this can be a lot of fun!
	Use your homemade instrument and/or body percussion and record a multi-track tune using the Acapella app.	STOMP: Check this out for inspiration!
	Perform a song (sing or play any instrument) as a gift for a family member or family friend. Play in person or send a video message.	Get your family involved! They could sing or play an instrument, or you can teach them to perform on a household "percussion" instrumentKraft Dinner boxes make great shakers!
	Which songs best describe your personality and your experiences? Create an imaginary album (The Soundtrack of My Life) which includes a list of songs that reflect who you are right now.	This is a great reflective activity to document where you are at this point in life.
	Have a fun karaoke contest with your family.	You don't have to sound good to have a lot of fun! Celebrate every voice! (YouTube offers a lot of karaoke tracks.)
Listening	Musicians all over the world have contributed to performance videos while self-isolating in their homes. Listen and choose your favourites. Reflect on why people turn to music and art in times of crises.	Self-isolating choirs and orchestras perform from home "You Will Be Found" from Dear Evan Hansen
