- (b) without lawful excuse, disobeys, omits or neglects to carry out any lawful order.

Party to a breach of the Code

15. A police officer or security police officer is a party to a breach of the Code if the police officer or security police officer aids, abets, counsels or procures another police officer or security police officer to commit a breach of the Code or is an accessory after the fact to a breach of the Code.

DISCIPLINARY AND CORRECTIVE MEASURES

Principles of discipline and correction

16. If a disciplinary authority considers that one or more disciplinary or corrective measures are necessary in respect of the conduct of a police officer or security officer, the disciplinary authority shall impose on the police officer or security officer a disciplinary or corrective measure listed in section 17 that seeks to correct or educate the police officer or security police officer rather than one that seeks to blame and punish, unless the imposition of a disciplinary or corrective measure that seeks to correct or educate the officer is unworkable or would bring the administration of police discipline into disrepute.

Disciplinary and corrective measures

17. A disciplinary authority may impose any one or more of the following disciplinary and corrective measures on a police officer or security officer:

- (a) a verbal caution, which shall not be recorded in the record of discipline and shall not form part of the record of discipline;
- (b) a verbal reprimand;
- (c) a written reprimand;
- (d) a direction to undertake professional counselling or a treatment program at no direct cost to the police officer or security police officer;
- (e) a direction to undertake special training or retraining at no direct cost to the police officer or the security police officer;
- (f) a direction to work under close supervision;
- (g) a suspension without pay for a specified period of time not exceeding 160 working hours;
- (h) a reduction in rank;
- (i) dismissal;
- (j) any other disciplinary or corrective measure that may be agreed upon between the disciplinary authority and the police officer or the security police officer.

Right to Representation

18. Throughout the disciplinary process, including an internal disciplinary process and a disciplinary process resulting from a public complaint, a police officer or security police officer who is alleged to have committed a breach of the Code, has the right to the advice and assistance of

- (a) a fellow police officer or a fellow security police officer, as the case may be;
- (b) an association representative, if the officer is a member of the Prince Edward Island Police Association;
- (c) a union representative, if the officer belongs to a union; or

(d) legal counsel.

19. (1) If an entry is made in the record of discipline of a police officer or security police officer concerning the imposition on the officer of a disciplinary or corrective measure referred to in section 17, the discipline authority shall cause the entry to be removed from the record of discipline two years after it was made. Service records of discipline

(2) Once expunged, the entry and the information pertaining to the entry shall not be used against the police officer or security police officer in any manner or form in any matter or proceeding. Idem

(3) The record of discipline of a police officer or security police officer of a police agency shall be maintained by the police agency in a secure location separate from the personnel file of the police officer or security police officer for as long as the police agency determines necessary. Idem

(4) A police officer or security police officer or former police officer or former security police officer has the right to inspect his or her record of discipline. Right to inspect records

(5) On the request of a police officer or security police officer, or a former police officer or former security police officer, of a police agency to inspect his or her record of discipline, the police agency shall furnish access to the record of discipline within 10 days after the request. Idem

20. These regulations come into force on March 13, 2010. Commencement

SCHEDULE

Workplace Harassment

Workplace

1. (1) The workplace includes but is not limited to the physical worksite, washrooms, cafeterias, training sessions, business travel, conferences, work-related social gatherings, locker rooms and vehicles.

(2) It also includes any place where actions of a police officer or security police officer, whether on duty or not, will have such serious repercussions on the work environment as to seriously affect relationships between police officers or security police officers of a police agency or other employees within a police agency.

Protected grounds

2. Protected grounds are age, colour, creed, ethnic or national origin, family status, marital status, physical or intellectual disability, political belief, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or source of income.

Application

3. (1) This Schedule applies to the conduct of a police officer or security police officer of a police agency that is directed toward

- (a) another police officer or security police officer or group of police officers or security police officers; or
- (b) an employee within a police agency or group of employees within a police agency.

(2) Managers and supervisors are responsible for taking appropriate action to halt workplace harassment of which they become aware.

Workplace harassment

4. Workplace harassment includes personal and sexual harassment, poisoned work environment, abuse of authority and discrimination.

Personal harassment

5. Personal harassment means any objectionable or offensive behaviour that is known or ought reasonably to be known to be unwelcome and includes objectionable conduct, comment or display made on either a one-time or continuous basis that demeans, belittles or causes personal humiliation or embarrassment.

Sexual harassment

6. Sexual harassment means any conduct, comment, gesture, or contact of a sexual nature
- (a) that might reasonably be expected to cause offence or humiliation; or
 - (b) that might reasonably be perceived as placing a condition of a sexual nature on employment, an opportunity for training or promotion.

Poisoned work environment

7. A poisoned work environment is characterized by any activity or behaviour, not necessarily directed at anyone in particular, that creates a hostile or offensive workplace. A poisoned work environment can exist even if employees agree to participate in demeaning behaviour or voice no objections.

Abuse of authority

8. Harassment also includes abuse of authority where a person improperly uses the power and authority inherent in a position to endanger another person's job, undermine the performance of that job, threaten another person's economic livelihood or in any way interfere with or influence another person's career.

Discrimination

9. (1) Discrimination includes but is not limited to
- (a) differential treatment having an adverse impact on a person on the basis of any of the protected grounds;
 - (b) any action or policy that has an adverse impact on a person based on any of the protected grounds; and
 - (c) use of stereotyped images or language, including jokes and anecdotes, which suggest that all or most employees of a particular group of people are the same, thereby denying their individuality as persons, where such conduct has the purpose or effect of substantially or unreasonably interfering with an employee's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment.

(2) Clauses 6(4)(a) and (b) and section 11 of the Human Rights Act R.S.P.E.I. 1988, Cap. H-12 apply to clauses (1)(a) and (b).

EXPLANATORY NOTES

SECTION 1 sets out the definitions that apply to these regulations.

SECTION 2 lists the behaviours police officers and security police officers must adopt in order to comply with the Code.

SECTION 3 lists the types of behaviours of a police officer or a security police officer which result in the commission of a breach of the Code.

SECTION 4 describes the behaviours which constitute discreditable conduct.

SECTION 5 describes the behaviours which constitute neglect of duty.

SECTION 6 describes the behaviours which constitute deceitful behaviour.

SECTION 7 describes the behaviours which constitute improperly disclosing information.
