- (b) where the person finds that the interstice monitoring system of the tank indicates a leak into the interstitial space, give written notice of the leak, within one working day after the date of the maintenance inspection, to the owner of the tank and to the Minister.

Removal of identification tag

14.3 The Minister shall, within seven days after receipt of notification of a leak into the interstitial space of a double-bottom tank under clause 14.1(2)(c) or 14.2(b), direct an environment officer to remove the identification tag affixed to the tank.

Corrosion resistant oil filter canister

14.4 Every person who conducts an annual oil-burning equipment maintenance inspection as required in CSA B-139 Installation Code for Oil-Burning Equipment, as amended from time to time, in respect of a bottom outlet home heat tank shall

- (a) determine whether a corrosion resistant oil filter canister is connected to the petroleum supply line to the oil burning equipment; and
- (b) where a corrosion resistant oil filter canister is not connected to the petroleum supply line to the oil burning equipment, install a corrosion resistant oil filter.

14. Section 16 of the regulations is amended by the deletion of the words “double-walled or double-bottom metallic tank” and the substitution of the words “double-bottom tank”.

15. Sections 19 and 20 of the regulations are revoked and the following substituted:

19. Where an identification tag affixed to a home heat tank expires, the owner of the home heat tank system to which the identification tag relates shall arrange for a licensee to, before the end of the expiry year stamped on the identification tag, Expiry of identification tag

- (a) replace the home heat tank system with a home heat tank system that meets the requirements of these regulations;
- (b) replace any component of the home heat tank system necessary to ensure that the home heat tank system meets the requirements of these regulations; or
- (c) remove the home heat tank system in accordance with section 20.

20. (1) Where a home heat tank system is no longer in use, the owner of the home heat tank system shall arrange for a licensee to Removal of tank

- (a) ensure that all petroleum is removed from the home heat tank system;
- (b) disconnect all exposed piping or tubing from the home heat tank system; and
- (c) remove the fill and vent pipes and remove the home heat tank system from its location.

(2) Where a home heat tank system is relocated, the owner of the home heat tank system shall arrange for a licensee to remove any fill and vent pipes that are no longer in use. Removal of fill and vent pipes

- (b) an environment officer determines that the home heat tank system or part of the home heat tank system is inaccessible.

(4) Where an environment officer determines that a home heat tank system or part of a home heat tank system is inaccessible under clause (3)(b), the owner of the home heat tank system shall arrange for a licensee to: Idem

- (a) ensure that all petroleum is removed from the home heat tank system; and
- (b) in respect of each home heat tank within the home heat tank system,
 - (i) shut off the outlet valve, remove the filter, and plug or cap the outlet valve, and
 - (ii) plug or cap appropriate openings, including the supply or return outlets or inlets, except for the vent pipe.

16. Section 22 of the regulations is revoked.

17. Schedules A, B, C and D of the regulations are revoked.

18. These regulations come into force on April 1, 2012.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

SECTION 1 adds definitions for “corrosion resistant”, “Home Heat Tank Systems Technical Standards Handbook”, “oil burning equipment”, and “oil filter canister”. It also updates and clarifies the definitions of “home heat tank” and “home heat tank system” and revokes outdated definitions. References to a home heat tank inspector’s licence are removed because that category of licence has been discontinued.

SECTION 2 amends section 2 of the regulations to change the reference to “Provincial Treasurer” to “Minister of Finance, Energy and Municipal Affairs”.

SECTION 3 amends clause 3(1)(a) of the regulations to delete the reference to “Form 1” with respect to an application for a home heat tank installer’s licence. The form of such an application will now be one approved by the Minister.

In addition, the section also amends subsection 3(2) of the regulations to correct punctuation errors and references to trade qualifications, and to include add an alternative trade qualification respecting the completion of and industry-based training program that the Minister considers equivalent to certain home heat tank installer’s courses.

The section also adds a requirement that a person who applies for a home heat tank installer’s licence must hold liability insurance satisfactory to the Minister that may not be cancelled except on thirty days’ written notice to the Minister.

Furthermore, the section amends subsection 3(5) of the regulations to extend the term of a licence. A licence issued after the commencement of this section will expire on January 31 of the second year following the date of its issue or renewal.

Licences issued in January, 2012, before the commencement of this section, currently have a one-year term. But this section will also deem these licenses to have a two-year term, if proof of insurance coverage for such a term is submitted to the Minister and found to be satisfactory.

SECTION 4 revokes section 4 of the regulations, which provides for the issuance of home heat tank inspector’s licences. These licences have been discontinued.

SECTION 5 amends subsection 5(1) of the regulations to delete the reference to an inspector’s licence.

SECTION 6 replaces section 6 of the regulations with wording that is consistent with the definition of “alter”, and requires a licensee who carries out a home heat tank system inspection to comply with the requirements of the Home Heat Tank Systems Technical Standards Handbook.

SECTION 7 amends subsection 7(1) to clarify that a home heat tank system must meet the standards and requirements in effect on the date of the system’s installation established in the referenced regulations and codes. It also deletes references to Schedules B and C and replaces them with a reference to the Home Heat Tank Systems Technical Standards Handbook, and clarifies that the referenced codes are adopted as amended from time to time.

The section also amends subsection 7(2) to clarify that a licensee who installs, alters or inspects a home heat tank must ensure that the tank complies with the standards and requirements in the referenced codes in effect on the date the home heat tank was constructed.

Furthermore, the section revokes the requirements in subsections 7(3) and (4) with respect to identification tags and inspection reports, which have been included in the Home Heat Tank Systems Technical Standards Handbook. It adds a requirement that an outside tank be constructed of non-metallic material and that an inside tank be constructed of non-metallic material unless it is a double-bottom tank with a bottom outlet. Effective July 1, 2020, all inside and outside tanks will be required to be constructed of non-metallic material.

SECTION 8 revokes a requirement in section 8 that inspection reports be submitted to the Minister. The requirements with respect to inspection reports have been included in the Home Heat Tanks Systems Technical Standards Handbook.

SECTION 9 amends clauses 9(3)(a) and (c) and subsection 9(5) to remove references to an inspector’s licence.

The section also amends subsection 9(7) to clarify the circumstances in which an identification tag is not valid. An identification tag expires on June 30 of the expiry year, if any, that is stamped on the tag.

SECTION 10 replaces section 10 to clarify that a licensee must report a finding that a home heat tank system does not meet the requirements of the regulations to the Minister within one working day of making the finding.

SECTION 11 adds section 12.1 to prohibit a person from affixing an identification tag to a home heat tank unless the person is a licensee, and to require a licensee to affix an identification tag in accordance with the Home Heat Tank Systems Technical Standards Handbook.

SECTION 12 adds section 13.1 to prohibit the sale of an oil filter canister to a person unless the purchaser is a licensee and the oil filter canister is corrosion resistant, bears a manufacturer's label confirming that it is corrosion resistant if it is made of metallic material, and has an ethylene propylene diene M-class rubber gasket.

SECTION 13 replaces section 14 and adds new sections 14.1 to 14.4. The amendments update the circumstances in which the delivery of petroleum to a home heat tank system is prohibited. They also require a person who delivers petroleum to an outside double-bottom tank to check the tank's interstice monitoring system for leaks. A person attempting to deliver petroleum who finds that the system does not meet the requirements for delivery, or who finds a leak, must give notice to the owner of the home heat tank system, the person's employer if the person is employed by a petroleum supplier, and the Minister. A person who conducts an annual oil-burning equipment maintenance inspection is also required to check the interstice monitoring system of the tank and to notify the owner of the tank and the Minister of any leak. A person who conducts an annual oil-burning inspection must also ensure that a bottom outlet home heat tank has a corrosion resistant oil filter canister connected to the petroleum supply line to oil burning equipment.

SECTION 14 amends section 16 to delete the reference to "double-walled tank" and to correct the reference to "double-bottom tank", which is a defined term.

SECTION 15 replaces sections 19 and 20 to update the requirements for replacing or removing home heat tank systems that expire or are no longer in use.

SECTION 16 revokes section 22, which refers to the forms and schedules. Most of the forms contained in Schedule A will be approved by the Minister. Form 3 of Schedule A is no longer required because inspectors' licences have been discontinued. The construction standards and home heat tank replacement year calculation table contained in Schedules B, C and D have been included in the Home Heat Tank Systems Technical Standards Handbook.

SECTION 17 revokes Schedules A, B, C and D.

SECTION 18 provides for the commencement of these regulations.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

SECTIONS 1 and 2 amend a heading and a provision of the regulations to replace the term “pesticide training events” with the term “pesticide training”.

SECTION 3 amends a provision that indicates how persons who hold an applicator certificate are to obtain continuing education credits. The amendment replaces a reference to a person who holds an AG-1 Pesticide Use Certificate with a reference to a person who holds a Class D Pesticide Applicator Certificate.

SECTION 4 amends a provision that currently indicates that a Class A Pesticide Applicator Certificate authorizes the holder of the certificate to apply pesticides to control pests on an agricultural crop or agricultural land. The amendment will also allow such a certificate holder to apply pesticides to control pests on seed grain and potato seed pieces.

This section also amends a provision under which the Minister may issue a Class D Pesticide Applicator Certificate to drop the current requirement for the applicant to hold a valid Class A Pesticide Applicator Certificate, a valid AG-1 Pesticide Use Certificate or a valid Loader/mixer Certificate.

SECTION 5 clarifies when the Minister shall renew a Class D Pesticide Applicator Certificate.

SECTION 6 revokes a transitional provision providing for the issuance of a conditional Class A Pesticide Applicator Certificate to a person who held a certificate issued under the prior regulations. This provision, as worded, is no longer applicable to such persons and so is not needed.

SECTION 7 revokes a transitional provision indicating that certain certificates issued under the prior regulations expired on December 31, 2006. As that date has passed, this provision is no longer needed.

SECTION 8 revokes a transitional provision respecting Pesticide Sales Licences issued under the prior regulations. The transitional effect or term of this provision has ended and the provision is no longer needed.

SECTIONS 9 and 10 correct minor wording errors.

SECTION 11 indicates that a notice concerning the proposed application of a pesticide is to be given, prior to that application, to a person who occupies a dwelling within 25 metres of the place of application. Currently this provision requires such a notice to be given to the owner of a property within that distance from the place of application. This section also clarifies that such a notice may be given.

SECTIONS 12 and 13 correct minor wording errors.

SECTIONS 14 and 15 provide for the amendment, replacement or revocation of a number of forms in the Schedules of the regulations. Amendments are made to recognize the new name of the Minister and the Department.

SECTION 16 provides for the commencement of these regulations.
