Approved

4. Raw milk samples obtained for the purposes specified in this Order shall only be tested by the Prince Edward Island Analytical Laboratory, or an alternative accredited laboratory, using the approved methods described in s.3.

Inhibitor

testing products

5. Screening and confirmatory tests for inhibitors shall be performed using an approved inhibitor testing product:

(1) the choice of testing product shall be approved by the laboratory, processors and DFPEI;

	(2) all inhibitor screening tests shall be performed using the same inhibitor testing product as the laboratory; and
	(3) any test performed using other testing products that cannot be verified using the approved testing product shall not be accepted by DFPEI and any resulting costs or liability shall be for the account of the processor using the unapproved test.
Requirement to sample	6. Raw milk samples shall be drawn from the milk present in the bulk tank on each farm every time milk is offered for sale. The samples shall be used by the bulk milk grader to inspect and grade the milk, prior to loading it on the transport vehicle, to determine if it is acceptable for sale. The samples from each farm shall also be used as required by the laboratory for testing the milk to determine: (1) if the milk contains inhibitors; (2) if the milk complies with quality testing criteria; and (3) the milk component content, which is used for calculating the value of the milk.
Official samples	7. Only samples drawn by a bulk milk grader or dairy inspector and held in the continuous custody of a bulk milk grader or dairy inspector until inspected, graded or shipped to the laboratory shall be considered valid official samples. After a sample is drawn, no person shall be granted access to the sample who is not part of the inspection, grading, shipping or testing process. Only official samples may be used for testing as specified in this Order.
Volume of samples	8. Samples are normally drawn in volumes less than one hundred (100) millilitres, but shall be drawn in sufficient volume to meet inspection, grading and testing requirements as specified in this Order at the time the milk is offered for sale.
Number of samples required	9. A bulk milk grader shall draw: (1) at least one sample to inspect and grade the milk on each farm before it is removed from the producer's bulk milk tank - these samples may be disposed on site if appropriate; (2) one or more samples to be retained as official samples in custody as specified in s.7 of this Order; and (3) one or more samples for extraordinary testing, such as CFIA testing or research testing, as directed by DFPEI.
No compensation for samples	10. Volumes of milk drawn for samples are considered insignificant compared to the volume of milk offered for sale by dairy farms and are required in the normal course of marketing milk. Therefore, no compensation shall be paid for any volume of milk drawn as samples prior to measurement of the volume of milk available for sale.
Drawing samples	11. Each official sample shall be drawn: (1) following agitation of the milk contained in the tank for at least 5 minutes or as otherwise directed by DFPEI to assure uniformity of the milk; (2) in an aseptic manner; and

- (3) by means of:
- (a) a mechanical sampler on the bulk milk truck;
 - (b) a direct extraction from the producer's bulk milk tank using a sanitized pipette;
 - (c) a direct extraction from the producer's bulk milk tank using a sanitized dipper that has been rinsed in the milk prior to sampling; or
 - (d) any other sanitary sampling method approved by DFPEI.
- Inspection and grading
12. A bulk milk grader shall inspect and grade the milk offered for sale and shall accept the milk for purchase or reject the milk contained in the bulk milk tank on the basis of its flavour, appearance, odour, temperature or other abnormalities, as specified in the DFPEI Raw Milk Standards Order.
- Milk testing frequency
13. From the official samples retained for testing the laboratory shall select samples from each producer to test:
- (1) for added water at least once each test week;
 - (2) for bacteria at least once each test week;
 - (3) for milk component content at least twice each test week;
 - (4) for somatic cell count at least twice each test week;
 - (5) for inhibitors as provided for in s.14 and s.15 of this Order; and
 - (6) as may be otherwise directed by DFPEI.
- Inhibitor screening test procedures
14. (1) Every dairy plant receiving milk shall ensure that a screening test is performed to detect the presence of inhibitors in any milk offered for sale to their processing plants. All bulk loads of milk shall be tested for inhibitors by:
- (a) the receiving dairy plant before the milk is unloaded; or
 - (b) an external milk tester, contracted by the processor purchasing the milk and approved by the Board, after the milk has been unloaded at the receiving plant.
- (2) In the case where a transport vehicle has multiple compartments, all compartments shall be tested.
- (3) Any additional costs created as a result of accepting the milk before it has been tested by an external milk tester as described in this Order shall be the responsibility of the processor purchasing the milk.
- Dairy plant confirmation tests
15. When a screening test detects the possible presence of one or more inhibitors in a compartment, the following actions shall be undertaken to verify the screening test results:
- (1) The dairy plant shall conduct two additional inhibitor tests on milk samples from the suspected contaminated compartment and simultaneously test two control samples, one that is known to be inhibitor free and one that is known to contain the inhibitor;

(2) if the control sample results verify the tests are functioning correctly and neither of the additional tests indicate the presence of an inhibitor, the original screening result shall be considered an error and the milk shall be accepted for processing; and

(3) If the control sample results verify the tests are functioning correctly and at least one of the additional tests indicate the presence of one or more inhibitors, the dairy plant shall:

- (a) reject all the milk contained in the contaminated compartment;
- (b) notify a DFPEI inspector of the contamination; and
- (c) forward the remainder of the sample from the contaminated compartment and the samples collected from each farm bulk tank that was loaded into the contaminated compartment to the laboratory for further testing.

Laboratory
inhibitor tests

16. If dairy plant confirmation tests indicate that one or more inhibitors are present in a bulk tank sample, the laboratory shall:

- (1) conduct two inhibitor tests on the milk from the load sample, and also simultaneously test two control samples, one that is known to be inhibitor free and one that is known to contain the inhibitor;
- (2) test all the producer samples from the contaminated compartment;
- (3) determine which producers were responsible for contamination of the compartment; and
- (4) communicate their findings to a DFPEI inspector and the dairy plant.

DFPEI
inhibitor
response

17. Upon receipt of confirmation of the presence of inhibitors from the laboratory, DFPEI shall:

- (1) confirm the dairy plant's decision to discard all milk from the contaminated compartment; and
- (2) notify the producer responsible for the contamination and perform actions indicated in the DFPEI Violations and Penalties Order.

Test for added water

18. (1) The test to determine the presence of added water is analysis of the freezing point of the milk samples.

(2) Each week one sample of milk from each producer shall be selected for freezing point screening using an electronic milk analysis device.

(3) Any sample that is identified as possibly exceeding the freezing point standard shall be retested by cryoscopy to accurately determine its freezing point.

(4) The freezing point of the milk shall be reported and recorded reported in degrees Hortvet or degrees Celsius.

Test for bacteria

19. (1) Each week one sample of milk from each producer shall be selected for bacteria testing.

		(2) Bacteria testing shall be performed using an electronic milk bacteria analysis device.
		(3) The test shall determine an individual bacteria count of the number of bacteria present in a ml of milk.
		(4) Bacteria test results shall be reported and recorded as individual bacteria counts (IBC).
Test for somatic cells	20.	(1) Each week two samples of milk from each producer shall be selected for somatic cell testing.
		(2) Somatic cell testing shall be performed using an electronic milk analysis device.
		(3) The test shall determine the number of somatic cells present in a ml of milk.
		(4) Somatic Cell Test Results shall be reported and recorded as somatic cell counts (SCC).
Test for milk components	21.	(1) Each week two samples of milk from each producer shall be selected for testing to determine the component content in that producer's milk.
		(2) Milk component testing shall be performed using an electronic milk analysis device.
		(3) The milk analysis device expresses the content of each component in a mass over mass (grams of component per Kg of milk) data format.
		(4) DFPEI shall receive the mass over mass data, then convert that data to the industry recognized mass over volume (Kg/hL) format using a standard calculation and factors provided by the Canadian Laboratory Service.
		(5) The component content shall be reported to producers and industry partners in the mass over volume format, which shall be used to determine the value of the milk for invoicing processors and for paying producers.
Reporting test results	22.	All Test results shall be reported to DFPEI by the laboratory. DFPEI shall distribute test results to producers using electronic and other means and shall use the test results to determine compliance with milk quality standards and establish the milk component content for the purpose of invoicing processors and paying producers.
Revocation	23.	DFPEI Order 2012-02 Sections 13(2), 13(4), 13(5), 13(8), 14(18), 14(19), 14(21) and 14(23) are hereby revoked.
Commencement	This Order shall come into force on the 1st day of April 2017.
